

Achievements

The image features four black silhouettes of graduates in academic regalia. On the left, a graduate stands facing right. In the center, two graduates are depicted in a dynamic, celebratory pose, appearing to dance or jump, with one holding a diploma aloft. On the right, a graduate is shown in profile, facing left, also holding a diploma. The title 'ACHIEVEMENTS 1990' is centered above the central figures.

SAINT JOSEPH'S COLLEGE
DIVISION OF GENERAL STUDIES
BROOKLYN, NEW YORK

The faces of achievement: General Studies students attend class

THE WAY TO ACHIEVEMENT

We congratulate you, the graduating class of 1990. The attainment of your Bachelor of Science degree from the Division of General Studies, a significant achievement in itself, is especially meaningful, since it was earned by so many of you while maintaining and advancing in full-time professional careers and managing the real demands of a family.

We pay tribute to your industry, intellect and commitment to your goals. We fervently hope that your degree will open the way to new and significant achievements in this new decade and in the years beyond.

The Members of the Administration, Faculty, and Staff of the Division of General Studies.

To The Graduates of 1990:

Graduation is a ceremony that marks both a successful completion and the beginning of a new challenge.

Looking back, you can reflect on the ways in which you have changed in your time at St. Joseph's. You are in possession of increased knowledge, enhanced self-confidence, and credentials declaring you prepared for additional professional responsibility. More than this, however, you have moved your development forward in fundamental ways. For those of you who have taken full advantage of your time at the College, you have undergone an emancipatory experience that has moved you closer to the worldview described as wisdom.

Looking to the future takes on special significance given that you are the first graduating class of a new decade. It is our hope that you will use the time before you in ways that will improve yourselves, your loved ones, and the world at large. In short, you have the opportunity to push for a personal and social evolution that will be worthy of the Twenty-first Century.

As I have done in the past, I would like to extend appreciation to Daniel Beni for once again taking charge of the yearbook effort to bring forward this excellent ACHIEVEMENTS 1990. Thanks also to S. Carole Lessard for assisting in this effort. Together they have given us the best General Studies yearbook to date.

Congratulations,

Thomas G. Travis, Dean
Division of General Studies

To The Graduates of 1990,

The realization of a truly memorable yearbook requires the energy and input of many individuals. I want to express my deep appreciation to all those who participated in the development of this our eighth yearbook. In particular, I must thank Mary Edwards, Imelda Forrester-Evans, George Lowe, Kevin McKenna, and David Velma, for their creative contributions.

I would also like to extend special thanks to Sister Carole Lessard, Sadie McMillan, and Rosita Gonzalez whose administrative support made ACHIEVEMENTS' 90 such a success.

Sincerely,

Daniel Beni

RETURNING TO COLLEGE

BY GEORGE C. LOWE

THE CLASS OF 1990

I never intended to take ten years off from college. So when I decided to complete my studies it was a big decision. My choice to attend Saint Joseph's was influenced by the positive feedback of a satisfied student. At Saint Joseph's I found an atmosphere that inspired me to earn success. I think of the College faculty and staff as warm and sincere. The faculty established itself as honest and knowledgeable. This environment is positively charged. I regularly take the issues discussed in our classes back to my workplace and home. Now I am in a position to recommend a college: I recommend Saint Joseph's.

AN APPRECIATION
BY MARY EDWARDS
THE CLASS OF 1990

I wish to express my sincere thanks and grateful appreciation to the faculty of Saint Joseph's College. Of all the fine things about the College, the attitude of its faculty impressed me most. Their hard work and dedication is a clear demonstration of exceptional commitment to the students - whatever they can do to further your career goals they'll do.

I am proud to be a graduate of Saint Joseph's College.

RESOLUTION

BY VELMA DAVID

THE CLASS OF 1990

I began Saint Joseph's College in the spring of 1988. And, what a nervous wreck I thought I would be by the end of the first semester. But somehow, I am here completing my final semester and preparing for graduation. I am the mother of five children, two boys and three girls, and a wife, with a full-time job. Yet I am here ready to graduate! I tell you this because you too can make it. Forget about the storms: we all have them. Learn to ride the waves and achieve your goals.

EDUCATION FOR THE FUTURE

BY IMELDA FORRESTER-EVANS

THE CLASS OF 1990

I graduated from nursing school about ten years ago. I started at Saint Joseph's College and then stopped for one year. Then I decided to return and complete what I had started.

I am really glad that I chose Saint Joseph's. The classes are warm and friendly and we are treated as individuals with respect.

I am proud of myself. It was hard, but what I've learned at Saint Joseph's will shape my future career goals.

GENERAL STUDIES STUDENTS TO VISIT SAINT LUCIA TO STUDY HEALTH CARE SYSTEM

As ACHIEVEMENTS '90 goes to press, we are happy to announce that General Studies students enrolled in CHA 501/502, Field Study in International Health Care Systems under Victor Brown, will pay a health care fact finding trip to the Caribbean Island of Saint Lucia, this spring. This visit will enable students to learn about the infrastructure of the health care delivery system of this country as well as provide cultural enrichment. Students enrolled in CHA 501/502 may receive college credit for this experience.

TRANSITIONS

BY DOROTHY HOWARD

THE CLASS OF 1990

And how long have you been working towards your degree? Sometimes I could swear it's been eighty years — but, in truth, it only seems that long.

I have been working toward a degree, sporadically, since my graduation from high school in 1971. At graduation, I was so envious of friends who were making the transition from high school to college — going on, uninterrupted, to earn their degree. There were many unexpected detours on my road to a degree — the necessity to earn an immediate living, a marriage, a relocation, a divorce, yet another relocation — and somehow, these took precedence over my longing to earn a degree. But I was ever hopeful.

Some years ago, I found my way to St. Joseph's. Determined to make this opportunity work, I squeezed classes in on weekends and stretched my work week to include term papers and required readings. I was pleased with my progress and unwilling to entertain any further detours.

I found myself facing old demons, however, when my nephew, Rob, was born. The envy I had harbored against those long-ago classmates who sailed smoothly on to college prompted me to open a bank account in trust for Rob's college tuition. In the manner of many a doting relation, I vowed that my much-loved nephew would not have to postpone studies for lack of funds, or struggle to attend classes after work. The urge to provide for him in this way arose, I think, from the overriding value I attributed to that smooth transition denied me.

Lately, however, I have been reflecting on my experiences here at St. Joseph's, and discovering an appreciation for the rather erratic course my own studies have taken over the years. In retrospect, I benefited from the passage of time which enabled me to define my goals, consider alternatives and choose a personal lifestyle.

In particular, I find myself appreciating my classmates, struggling like myself to juggle responsibilities while maintaining a grasp on a very personal goal. In class after class, their thoughtful comments — flowing from their own much-lived lives — challenged me to think beyond my own experience.

And so, if in years to come, my nephew finds himself side-tracked and, like his aunt, enters college during his "30-something" years, I will be there to assure him that, whatever he may lose in terms of continuity, he will surely gain in an education enhanced by the experience of his own and his classmates' fully-lived lives, and the glimpse of worlds otherwise unknown.

In parting, this is my "thank you" to those students (and instructors, as well) who took the time to share the totality of their life experiences, their cultural and ethnic heritages, their unique point of view — and, in so doing, immeasurably enriched the achievement of my long-pursued goal.
